

Corse : Calacuccia to Piana

Corsica is a mountain in the Sea, this is an opportunity to enjoy every aspect of the island, to discover the extreme contrasts. You can bathe in the perfumes, colours and contrasting landscapes that have earned Corsica its reputation.

We start our walking in the very heart of the island in the Niolu valley which is completely encircled by the highest mountain summits. The Paglia Orba and the Cinto tower above dominating the skyline. You walk through pine tree forests, with the ever present clear emerald waters of the rushing torrents, cascading chutes and rock pools.

The remote villages, chestnut forests and gorges are a pleasure to discover. The weeks walking cumulates at the magnificent gulf of Porto where the majestic rose hued mountains plunge abruptly into the sea.

Program

D1 - Start of holiday in Ajaccio

Arrival in Ajaccio, time to settle into your hotel before exploring. Ajaccio is the capital of Southern Corsica, the ambience is very vibrant and Mediterranean. It is great to just sit in one of the cafés opposite the harbour and soak up the atmosphere. The old streets and houses are often dwarfed by the large ferries that arrive from Italy or mainland France. visit the shops, museums, cathedral and Napoleon's house or simply relax on the beach. Opportunity to visit the îles Sanguinaires by boat.

Les Crêtes-Mountain ridge walk

You can choose to do this walk upon arrival or before you leave Ajaccio the following day. You are given the option of two walks along the mountain ridge 'les Crêtes' that dominates the city and Gulf of Ajaccio. The aerial views of the town, over the sea and the mountains are stunning.

Distance : from 6km to 11km, duration : from 2h00 to 4h00 , altitude gain : +140m to +340m, descent : -140m to -340m.

D2 - Ajaccio to Calacuccia

An early morning transfer from Ajaccio to the Scala di Santa Régina, situated just outside of Corte. The transfer to Corte will be organised from Ajaccio train station, either by train, or vehicle, at our discretion. The journey to Corte will take about two hours. From Corte a vehicle transfer will take you to the start of the Scala di Santa Régina (35mins)

The Scala Santa Régina

The Scala Santa Régina valley. This trail is of great historical importance, it was the path used by shepherds leading their herds in and out of the Niolu valley. It winds through a decor of granite cliffs, along a superb balcony path to the Erco génois bridge and the village of Corsica. Descent to Calacuccia village, passing through old chestnut groves.

Distance : 10km, duration : 4h00, altitude gain : +700m, descent : -340m.

D3 - Calacuccia to Castel di Vergio

Walking from Calacuccia, you cross the village of Albertacce. Taking a path from the village outskirts, you will pass by an old chestnut mill and cross a genoise bridge, following a trail that winds its way up through a wonderful forest. You will be able to see Calasima across the valley, the highest village on the island. For most of the walk, you will be flanking the mountain side, staying more or less on the level and enjoying startling views across the Niolu valley and back down to the lake you have just left behind. Depending on the month, the vegetation always has something special to offer.

Distance : 13km, duration : 6h00, altitude gain : +750m, descent : -200m.

D4 - Castel de Vergio to Evisa

A walk from Castel di Vergio up to Col di Vergio, the dividing high mountain pass that separates the two counties of Corsica. From the col, the trail leads down hill to the village of Evisa. Situated at 830m, it is unusually close to the sea for a village of this height. It benefits from a privileged climate and is known locally as the 'pearl of the mountains.' You will descend through the wonderful pine tree forest of Aitone, through a transition of different trees and vegetation. As you approach the village you take a trail that leads through an ancient chestnut forest. The village still exploits it's chestnuts, keeping up the traditional local dishes and chestnut specialities.

Distance : 12km, duration : 5h30 , altitude gain : +200m, descent : -650m.

D5 - Evisa to Porto

From Evisa you walk down the Spelunca gorge, the path zig-zags back and forth leading into the depths. You follow the torrent to a Genoese bridge where you start the walk up through the maquis, towards the vibrant village of Ota. A village that couples mountain architecture with a hot Mediterranean climate and flora. Braying donkeys, hunting dogs, villagers working in their gardens, bright bougainvillea, lemon and fig trees all add colours to the picture. The delicious smell of the Ceccaldi restaurant beckoning and the rose coloured granite sea cliffs getting ever closer. Perhaps you will get tempted to sit and unwind on 'Chez Felix's terrace to marvel at the succession of high mountains so close to the sea. Your route leaves Ota heading swiftly down to the coast. The view towards the Gulf of Porto is a kaleidoscope of colour: red cliffs, shocking blue sea and the bold Genoese tower. The walk is downhill and you can find all the plants that you associate with the heat and the Mediterranean, deep blue-black island lavender, pale pink cistus and rock sedum. Impatience will mount as you draw closer to the sea.

Distance : 14km, duration : 6h00, altitude gain : +320m, descent : -1170m.

D6 - Porto to Piana

With just 4h30 walking today you may choose to spend your morning in Porto to enjoy some of the sea activities. When the sea is calm there are regular boat trips towards Scandola, this is the most reputed part of the coastline and the wild natural beauty is spectacular. It is possible to explore on your own with snorkel and mask, or for the more adventurous there is scuba diving. If you decide to walk directly to Piana in the morning it is possible to walk down to the small sandy cove of Ficaghjola in the afternoon. Leaving Porto you cross over the bridge that links Porto to the harbour. You walk along the beach that is bordered by a eucalyptus wood, then take a path that is just above sea level and gives a balcony view down onto the clear blue waters, as well as splendid views of the indented rugged coastline and its many creeks. It is the most dramatic part of the coastline and classed by UNESCO as a site of world beauty. The vegetation is a haze of lavender, myrtle, delicate pink cistus flowers, juniper, foxgloves, tall white asphodels and cyclamen. Once in the 'calanques' you will be surrounded by an incredible site of granite needles, tortured shapes and rock sculpted formations dotted with maritime pine trees.

Distance : 12km, duration : 5h00, altitude gain : +520m, descent : -140m.

D7 - Piana to Ajaccio

We will communicate the time of the public bus back to Ajaccio when you reserve. The time changes during the season. You may have time to walk down to the small cove of Ficaghjola for a swim.

Walk to Ficaghjola

The cove of Ficaghjola is a small sandy creek. With its white sand and high mountains it is very picturesque. It is a favourite nightstop for passing sailboats who like to drop anchor.

Distance : 5km there and 5km back, duration : about 1h30 one way, altitude gain : +450m, descent : -450m.

D8 - End of holiday in Ajaccio
